Dearest Bhai Jan,

Thank you so much for your charming letter. Ofcourse I know there is always room in your and Bhabis hearts fo , andthere is the sme inmy heart, but Iwnder if there is anymore room left for travelling for me. I have no idea yet when I am supposed to return, and to date have done nothing for the last one month and ahqlf except emncentrate on my music.

I am so sick and tired of travelli g habing donenothing else for five years, and with endless travelling ahead of me when I get bac k that I dont want to see a train or plane or sip or even a car as long as I canhelp it. I will have to go to Hyderabad once, for some bus ness and then I plan to go to Delhi if time allows to say good bye to Neela, and if I really have the time and nerve left I will come to you, but I yet done know. In ay case, I hope I meet you inDelhi.

This is a wretched letter infact it is merely an acknowledgment, as I have not been at all well, this nuiritis has been giving mya lot of trouble, and I have not bothered at all not even taken the medicines I am asked to stop its worsening, and I have also had my lallergic attakcs lately and feel rather blue. so forgive this letter

Poupee was here with the c ildren onher way to Simla for four days, my little grandchildren are rzeally an adorable pair and now the house seems very empty.

How are you liking "ashmir ? Please give Bhabi mylove. How long will you be in Srinigar ? Will you be there next year also or is this just a stop gap job you have accepted ?

with myfondest love to you and Bhabi, hoping to hear from you. Write here.
