

July 27th, 1959.

From: Sir Philip Morris

Dear Saiyidain,

Thank you very much for your letter of the 25th July with which you were good enough to present the Report of the Committee on the Supply of Teachers as approved by the Committee.

I fully realise the difficulties under which you and your colleagues on the Committee have been labouring. You have nevertheless succeeded in surmounting most of them.

The encouragement that you have found from the increasing realisation of urgent needs is something which I personally am glad to share.

I realise that in the circumstances in which you found yourself it was impossible for you and your Committee adequately to deal with the financial implications. You appear to have taken in these circumstances the best possible course open to you.

I am delighted, as will be the Secretaries of the Committee, to whom I am passing on your kind commendations, that your Committee has been well served by the Secretariat.

It has been a privilege to be associated with you and I shall never forget the respect which I feel for your ability and integrity and the pleasure which it has been to get to know you.

With very kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

P. S. Sastry

P.S. Since dictating the above I have received your note and present. I greatly appreciate your kind and generous thought.

Professor K.G. Saiyidain.
